A Night to Remember

When the International Special Events Society holds its Annual Capital Awards Gala, it is always a spectacular evening! This year Kevin Olivera and Olivera Music Entertainment took home the award for Best Entertainment Production.

The award-winning event was titled “An Addams Family Christmas.” This was an outrageous holiday party complete with Uncle Fester, Thing, Cousin Itt, Lurch and John Astin, the original Gomez from the TV Series.

An elaborate awards ceremony featuring the great music of the “Nicki Gonzalez Band” provided the perfect setting to honor Washington DC’s finest event professionals. Following the awards, a 20-piece Gospel choir processed guests into an elaborately decorated warehouse for an evening of spectacular cuisine, drink and dance.

This is Olivera’s second Capital Award for Best Entertainment Production, having earned the glass in 2006 for “The President’s Dance”, George W. Bush’s 2nd Inauguration.
